

Frascati April 10th, 2002

Dear Prof. Rubbia,

This week I have been visiting the ENEA laboratories in Frascati. I am very pleased that the research program started by the late common friend Giuliano Preparata has achieved his goal.

I had the pleasure to discuss many times with Giuliano the aim of the program and I have followed closely its development. So I am now in the position to say that the result obtained by Emilio Del Giudice, Antonella De Ninno and Antonio Frattolillo are truly impressive – and that is an understatement!

As is always the case, the question which arises is: what is to be done next and, indeed, what is to be done with these results? It strikes me that it would be very important for you to visit the research group once again which would allow a discussion of all the key issues.

I would be glad to discuss with you together with my Italian colleagues all these items in Frascati.

The work has certainly reached a “watershed” in the development of the topic!

With kind regards,

Your sincerely,

Martin Fleischmann
